

Move Started To Limit Scope Of U. S. Treaties

By CHARLES F. BARRETT
WASHINGTON (AP) — A far-reaching, possibly historic move to limit the scope of United States treaties attracted strong support today from incoming congressmen throughout the country.

Lawmakers replying to an Associated Press survey went on record 8-1 as favoring a move by Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) to amend the Constitution so as to prohibit the U. S. from entering into binding international agreements in such fields as human freedoms and social and economic rights.

Constitution Comes First

Supporters agree enthusiastically that some such ban is needed to insure a yielding of American rights; foes say the amendment would just delay and hamstring international co-operation and the conduct of foreign affairs by the U. S.

Bricker's argument is that the field of human freedoms and social rights is an internal matter which should be governed only by domestic law—by the Constitution itself, and by state and federal laws passed under the Constitution.

Although the Ohio senator concedes that no treaties signed so far have regulated domestic rights of Americans, he insists that treaties now pending before the United Nations—if finally ratified by the U. S.—would restrict freedom of the press, freedom of speech, trial by jury and other rights guaranteed in the American Constitution.

Wordings Draws Fire
The language of Bricker's proposed amendment drew fire from the State and Justice Departments in the last session of Congress on two grounds:

1. The proposal would erect a barrier of undue delay and restriction in international co-operation and the conduct of foreign affairs by the U. S.

2. The amendment is not necessary, because if a treaty ever conflicted with the Constitution the Supreme Court would hold the Constitution supreme and that section of the treaty would be invalidated.

An Associated Press survey of opinions among incoming congressmen showed overwhelming sentiment in favor of the principle of the Bricker proposal, but some doubt about the language and just how far it should go in restricting treaty-making powers.

Bricker is rewriting his proposed amendment and promises to make it his top order of business in the new Congress, convening Jan. 3.

Siamese Twins Cling To Life

CHICAGO (AP) — The tiny Brodie Siamese twins, medical history's first survivors of a head-to-head surgical separation, clung to life today by the slenderest of threads.

Condition of one of the infant boys was reported "very precarious."

His brother has shown some improvement since completion of the day-long historic operation Wednesday night.

Physicians said the 15-month-old twins would remain on the critical list for five to seven days, if they survive. The fate of one, they said, may be decided within hours.

"No change for the better or worse," was the report late last night from pediatricians on duty at the bedside of the twins, Rodney Dee and Roger Lee Brodie.

Both children are in oxygen tents in the University of Illinois Neuro-psychiatric Institute.

Roger is in the most critical condition. His brain circulation was impaired by the 12-hour and 40-minute operation. He still was unconscious late last night and was receiving intravenous feedings and blood transfusions.

Rodney regained consciousness yesterday alternately crying and smiling.

Lady Bandits Try
Their First Stickup
And Forget The Gun

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Two lady bandits, probably trying their first stickup, forgot one little item: The gun!

"When one of them opened the cash register and reached for the money, I slapped it out of her hand," said William Brown Jr., a service station attendant who was being "held up."

One woman suddenly remembered she had forgotten the gun ran to her car and came back brandishing a revolver. That, confided Brown, made him angry. He punched the woman and took her gun away.

"They begged me to give it back," Brown said, "but I told them I was going to call the police and they left. They were so dumb I couldn't believe it all."

Filibuster Killer Expected To Cause Uproar In Senate

By JOHN CHADWICK
WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators trying to figure out how to smash filibusters are considering strategy that could throw the opening session of the new Senate on Jan. 3 into an uproar.

Behind their efforts is a desire to clear the way for civil rights measures. They hope to deprive opponents of their most trusty weapon, the filibuster, which can be used to talk legislation to death. Maneuvers Mapped

A leader in the move, Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.), said today Republican and Democratic senators who favor making it easier to shut off debate have been invited to confer here Dec. 30.

Humphrey told a reporter that one course of action under study is to move at the start of the session for the adoption of new Senate rules—a maneuver aimed at eliminating Rule 22.

Under Rule 22, a halt can be put to a filibuster only by the votes of 64 senators, or two-thirds of the entire membership. Opponents contend it is almost impossible to apply.

Fast Footwork Needed

What's more, Rule 22 provides that no debate limitation whatever shall apply to proposals to change the rules—so that any move to change it can be talked to death.

Tentative opening-day strategy outlined by Humphrey to cope with this roadblock to civil rights and other legislation involves some fast parliamentary footwork.

Here's what Humphrey expects would happen if the plan were put into execution:

At the outset of the session a motion would be made to adopt new Senate rules; the vice president, who is Senate presiding officer, probably would rule that the motion was out of order, relying on all past precedents that the Senate, because only a third of its membership changes at one time, is a continuing body and so already has its rules.

Southerners To Fight

An appeal would be taken from the ruling of the vice president; only a majority vote is necessary to overturn such a ruling and Humphrey is hopeful that the necessary votes could be obtained.

If the vice president were overruled, the effect would be to leave the Senate without any rules. Humphrey said in the case ordi-

Eisenhower Appoints Secretaries To Head U. S. Armed Services

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

NEW YORK (AP) — President-elect Eisenhower today announced his selections of the civilians who will head the armed services under Charles E. Wilson, secretary of defense-designate.

They are:

Deputy secretary of defense—Roger M. Kyes, 46, of Bloomfield Hills, Mich., a vice president of General Motors.

Secretary of the Army—Robert Ten Broeck Stevens, 53, of South Plainfield, N. J., a director of the General Electric Corp., General Foods and Jackson Mills, and chairman of the board of the J. P. Stevens & Co., textile manufacturers.

Democrat From Texas

Secretary of the Navy—Robert Bernard Anderson, 42, of Vernon, Tex., a director and deputy chairman of the board of directors of the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas, Tex.

Secretary of the Air Force—Harold L. Talbot, 64, of New York, chairman of the board of the North American Aviation Co., and a member of the Chryslers Corp. finance committee.

Talbot was active as an advisor and fund-raiser during Eisenhower's presidential campaign. The others selected today had not figured in the campaign limelight on a national scale. All the designations must be approved by the Senate.

Hagerty's office said Anderson is a Democrat who described himself during the campaign as a "Democrat for Eisenhower." The other three men designated today are Republicans.

Tough Decision Ahead

Anderson is the third Democrat chosen by Eisenhower for a key position in the Republican administration that will take office next January.

The others are Mrs. Oveta Culp

Battle Over Truman Medical Insurance Proposal Predicted

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The fate of a new plan to make it easier for people to meet doctor bills appeared today to hinge on whether President-elect Eisenhower is for it and how strongly the American Medical Association may be against it.

The plan, developed by President Truman's Commission on the nation's Health Needs, is built largely around voluntary, prepaid medical insurance financed in part by federal and state governments.

Truman Still Says Eisenhower Korea Trip Was Humbug

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman, who once changed his mind about whether Dwight D. Eisenhower should succeed him, hasn't changed it about the President-elect's trip to Korea.

He said so at his news conference yesterday. He had nothing to add or take back, he said, from the remark he had made a week earlier. He had said then that Eisenhower's campaign announcement he would go to Korea was demagogic, and that Eisenhower had to go through with it.

The President had no comment on Wednesday's meeting between Eisenhower and Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who says there is a way to end the Korean War.

Southerners To Fight

An appeal would be taken from the ruling of the vice president; only a majority vote is necessary to overturn such a ruling and Humphrey is hopeful that the necessary votes could be obtained.

If the vice president were overruled, the effect would be to leave the Senate without any rules.

New Television Stations Rushed

By WAYNE OLIVER

NEW YORK (AP) — Ultra high frequency (UHF) television takes a giant stride today, with four stations receiving transmitters for sending programs on channels newly opened to video.

They will race to get on the air as quickly as possible, and the winner will be the nation's second UHF station and the first with commercial equipment.

Station WFP-TV in Atlantic City, N. J., is claiming the honor in advance, saying it will have its transmitter installed and test signals on the air within hours, possibly by midnight, with regular programs starting at 5 p.m. EST, Saturday.

All four stations have trucks and engineers waiting at the Camden, N. J., plant of the RCA Victor Division of Radio Corporation of America. By early afternoon they hope to be rolling toward their stations with their prized equipment. The other three are WSBA-TV, York, Pa., WBRE-TV, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and WSET-TV, Conn.

Canadian Vessel Calls For Help

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP) — Her rudder damaged and buffeted by a heavy wind, the Canadian Pacific Steamship Company freighter Maplecove wallowed helplessly in rough North Pacific waters today.

Help was en route to the 10,000-ton ship which gave a position 1,260 miles off the British Columbia coast. But officials estimated it would take the tug Island Sovereign of Vancouver at least four more days to reach the ship.

The Maplecove radioed for aid yesterday while inbound to Vancouver from Yokohama. The ship's master, Capt. R. A. Leicester, reported the Maplecove was in no immediate danger although it could not be controlled.

A Canadian weather ship stationed 260 miles west of the position given by the Maplecove reported later that winds of 55 to 60 miles an hour were blowing.

Three or four other ships are reported in the Maplecove's vicinity to speed relief should she indicate conditions have become more hazardous.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Santa Claus has won a $25-a-week raise.

problem said they doubted the new program could get through Congress if the AMA decides to battle it. They said the one thing that might get it enacted would be definite, unimpressive words from the new President that he wants it.

Eisenhower has taken no stand so far on the voluntary, pay-in advance health plan. During the presidential campaign, he spoke out against what he termed "socialized medicine" and for improved medical service for the people.

The AMA up to now has taken a stand—in opposition—on only one phase of the program. AMA President Louis H. Bauer said a recommendation that the government buy health insurance for some social security beneficiaries out of social security funds spells "compulsory health insurance" and eventual control of health services by "big government."

The plan, developed by President Truman's Commission on the nation's Health Needs, is built largely around voluntary, prepaid medical insurance financed in part by federal and state governments.

Fat Lady Of Circus, Dainty Dotty Dies

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The death of "Dainty Dotty," onetime 585-pound fat lady of Ringling Brothers circus fame, was disclosed yesterday.

The Maplecove radioed for aid yesterday while inbound to Vancouver from Yokohama. The ship's master, Capt. R. A. Leicester, reported the Maplecove was in no immediate danger although it could not be controlled.

In recent years, her weight had been considerably less than its circus peak. She made medical history on Aug. 12, 1949, when she gave birth to a 9-pound, 4½-ounce son by Caesarean section. She weighed 350 pounds then.

Besides her husband, she leaves another son, Richard Strindberg, 21, by another marriage.

Council Splits On SDM License

Escanaba City Council by a vote of three to two last night denied an SDM (specially designated merchant) license for the sale of packaged beer and wine to a neighborhood grocery in a Class A residential area.

The Council split over the question of policy regarding the issuance of additional SDM licenses to stores now listed as a non-conforming use under the city zoning ordinance.

Councilmen Guy Knutson, Ed Cox and Wesley Hansen voted against approval of an SDM license to Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Shreve, 12221 Tenth Ave. S., because they said they believe the present non-conforming use should not be extended or encouraged.

Split On Policy

Councilman Jacob Bink and Mayor Robert E. LeMire voted to grant the SDM license to the Shreves because, they said, the Council had granted such applications in the past and there should be no discrimination.

Mayor LeMire said the Council policy should be to either adopt the Shreve application or reject all future SDM applications.

Councilman Knutson said the policy should be to approve applications in commercial districts but to reject them in residential zones, where stores are described as non-conforming use. He quoted Clemishaw appraisal formula to show that values of adjacent property are devalued by non-conforming use.

Shreve, appearing before the Council the second time, said he had previously promised that he would withdraw his application if the majority of the residents in the neighborhood were opposed. Two of the four adjacent property owners favored the license and two opposed it.

Okay In Commercial

The motion to approve Shreve's application was made by Councilman Bink, supported by Mayor LeMire. Both voted for the motion. The other three, Councilmen Hansen, Knutson and Cox, voted against the motion and it was defeated.

Later in the meeting the Council approved without discussion an application by John J. and Bernice Riley, 301 Ludington, a commercial zone, for an SDM license. Mayor LeMire replied "not voting" on the motion, apparently in dissent from what he felt was an inconsistent action in disapproving one SDM and approving another.

Council unanimously approved the transfer of a Class C liquor license from George Williams of the Metropolitan Hotel to Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Parker, subject to approval by the police department.

In another motion the Council requested all taverns in the city to close at 6 p.m. Christmas Eve in conformity with state regulations.

Butler, Chapekis Attend Conference At East Lansing

William Butler, county clerk-elect, and Nick Chapekis, prosecuting attorney-elect, have returned from East Lansing where they attended this week the conference course for elective county officers.

Butler attended the county clerks' section at which procedures of the county clerks' office were outlined by experts in this field.

Chapekis attended the prosecuting attorneys' section, covering such subjects as preparation of complaints and warrants, preparation and trial of criminal cases and crime detection facilities.

The conference was sponsored by the Michigan Institute for Local Government in cooperation with the Department of Political Science and Public Administration of Michigan State College. The two local men attended the conference at their own expense.

While in East Lansing, Chapekis was conducted through the crime detection laboratory of the Michigan State Police headquarters.

City Keeps Its Public Sidewalk; Tells Hayes To Remove Marquee

An application by Harold C. Hayes, proprietor of the House of Ludington, requesting the city to vacate a portion of Ludington Street sidewalk in front of his hotel, was denied by the City Council in meeting last night.

The Council then:

1—Rejected a motion to criminally prosecute Hayes for violation of the city building ordinance.

2—Approved a motion to order Hayes to remove that portion of his hotel marquee for which no authorization had been granted by the city.

The actions were taken after much discussion and a division of the Council members on which of the two above motions should be adopted.

Mayor Votes "No"

Motion to criminally prosecute Hayes was made by Councilman Wesley Hansen, supported by Mayor Robert E. LeMire. They voted for the motion but it was defeated by the votes of Councilmen Jacob Bink, Ed Cox and Guy Knutson.

The motion to order Hayes to remove the unauthorized portion of his brickied-in marquee was made by Councilmen Hansen, supported by Councilman Cox. It received only one "No" vote, from Mayor LeMire.

"I feel he (Hayes) should be criminally prosecuted for he went ahead when he had been told not to," Mayor LeMire said.

Began In August

The history of the case dates back to Aug. 11, when Escanaba police notified Hayes that the work on the hotel entranceway was unauthorized. He was told to stop construction until a building permit was obtained.

On Aug. 15 he was advised by City Manager A. V. Aronson not to go beyond the construction authorized in a permit issued by the city. This did not include bricking-in the marquee to the curb line.

The city manager on Nov. 7 advised Hayes, following a Council meeting, that he was continuing construction "contrary to law" and instructed him to remove all construction work done in excess of the permit within 10 days.

Hayes later requested a meeting with the Council and at that meeting his counsel, Atty Wheaton Strom, submitted a petition asking the city to vacate a portion of the sidewalk under the marquee, which would place the sidewalk in Hayes ownership.

Advocate Prosecution

City Attorney Denis McGinn, at the request of the Council, submitted an opinion in which he held that the Council does not have legal authority to vacate city property solely for private interest.

Last night the Council denied the application to vacate the sidewalk.

Mayor LeMire advocated criminal prosecution of Hayes for violation of the city ordinance. Councilman Hansen at first felt that such action should be started and then changed his vote to simple enforcement of the ordinance requiring modification of the marquee to comply with the ordinance.

City Attorney McGinn said that a conference with Hayes' attorney and the city engineer a proposal had been submitted to Hayes to remove all brick work in excess of the permit, except to allow brickwork around steel posts supporting the marquee.

Survey Is Scheduled
Neither Hayes nor his attorney attended last night's meeting. Mayor LeMire said Atty. Strom had advised him that he would be absent from the city on business.

Councilman Bink said he believes the zoning and building ordinances should be examined to determine their application in older cases of alleged violation, and to revise the ordinance if they are unworkable. He said he believes contractors should be made equally responsible for starting unauthorized work.

City Manager A. V. Aronson concurred and pointed out that a survey of non-conforming uses made by Councilmen Hansen, supported by Councilman Cox, has been authorized by the Council and will be made. This will provide a starting point for enforcement.

Mayor LeMire contended that Hayes "violated the ordinances more or less knowingly and should be prosecuted criminally."

"If you look about the city you will find greater encroachment on the sidewalk than in the case of Mr. Hayes," said the mayor.

Cite Case Histories

At another point in the discussion Councilman Bink said the Hayes' violation is no greater than that of a member of the Planning Commission (not named) who put two apartments in his house.

In response to a Council request for information, the city attorney said city records show the Council issued a permit in 1903 to the Fair Store to use a portion of the sidewalk on North 11th Street for a basement entrance; that a building permit was granted in 1937 for a basement entrance at the Delta Hotel; and the records apparently show no permit was ever issued for a basement entrance at the Hall Insurance Agency building.

"I think that tomorrow morning you (the council) could tell them all to remove them," said the city attorney in reply to another question.

Mayor LeMire, who had voted against the motion to order Hayes to remove the unauthorized portion of the House of Ludington marquee, said:

"I know that if this goes through the city is going to be involved in a lot of litigation. I have been told that a lot of nasty things will come up in regard to other violations."

Further Plat Study Slated

Efforts of the Escanaba Planning Commission and the City Council to establish a satisfactory plat designating future streets and alleys in an area in the southwest section of the city last night was continued for further hearings.

Under study for a considerable time, with hearings held by the Planning Commission and the City Council, the proposed precise plat is for an area between Fifth and Eighth Avenues South and 19th and 23rd Streets.

Objections to the plat as presented to the Council last night were made by a dozen or more residents of the area, including Rose and Florence DeGrand, Francis Lueneberg, Ernest Zeno and others.

Hearing Scheduled

Purpose of the plat study is to so locate the streets and alleys in the present unplatted area so they will cause the least cost and inconvenience to residents of the area and to the city when the street and alley improvements are made in the future.

Surviving are two sons, Arvid B. Ellingson of Gladstone and E. J. Ellingson, New Albany, Ind., three grandchildren and three great grandchildren, and one sister, Miss Mary Ellingson, Gladstone.

The body was taken to the Kelley Funeral Home where friends may call Saturday. Sunday morning it will be taken to the Lulloff Funeral Home at Colby, Wis., where services will be conducted at 1 p.m. Monday Burial will be made in the family plot in the Abbotsford, Wis., cemetery.

In connection with enforcement of the city's trailer coach ordinance, the Council last night heard Wallace Bolm, 1511 Eighth Ave. S., complain that he had been served notice to apply for a city permit to park his trailer in his yard. The permit would be for a 60-day period.

Study Trailer Use

Councilman Guy Knutson pointed out that he knew persons who rent trailer storage space at the U. P. State Fair Grounds.

"What is the value of being a property owner in Escanaba if I can't do what I want to with my own property," Bolm replied.

He said that he owns his home here, uses the trailer while he is employed on construction jobs, and while it would be parked in his yard it would be used only for tool storage, not as living quarters.

At the suggestion of Councilman Jacob Bink and City Manager A. V. Aronson the Council will meet in joint session with the Planning Commission the second Thursday of January to discuss the trailer ordinance. Bolm was invited to appear at that meeting.

Albert C. Chrisensen, supervisor of the Escanaba water department, and Russell L. Johnson, sanitary engineer for the state health department, attended a meeting in Iron Mountain yesterday to discuss plans for the U. P. Water Works Institute next spring.

Also discussed were plans for a short course for water plant personnel at Houghton the week of Mar. 8.

The meeting was for members of the U. P. education sub-committee of the state water works association and the institute committee for the U. P. unit.

Harnischfeger Case Is Argued

Both sides of the case in which Harnischfeger Corporation is seeking relief from an order to pay unemployment benefits to three discharged workers were heard this morning in Circuit Court, but no action on the company's appeal is expected for at least 55 days.

The contesting parties, Harnischfeger and the Michigan Employment Security Commission, will in that time file briefs and await the decision of Presiding Judge Glenn W. Jackson.

The court is not enabled to set aside the order but will only decide whether the order ruled by the MESC appeal board was contrary to the evidence presented in the case.

Three Employees Dismissed

The Harnischfeger appeal grew out of its dismissal of three employees for instigating a walkout at the Escanaba truck and crane plant Sept. 13, 1951—an action which it regards as misconduct.

The corporation's counsel, Victor M. Harding of Milwaukee, this morning told the court that the three workers, Austin Ohlen and Charles Wheatley of Gladstone and John Connally of Escanaba, violated a "no strike" clause of the union - company agreement which provided for standard procedures for voicing grievances, and that the employees, who were not union officers, took action against the company at a time when negotiations were under way on the last phase of a new agreement.

Both of these propositions, the plaintiff maintained, constituted misconduct for which the employer can legally discharge an employee.

Answering the plaintiff, Atty. A. L. Zwedling of Detroit, representing the U. A. W. of the C. I. O. with which the local union is affiliated, declared that inasmuch the union and the company were in stages of negotiation on a new contract, no contract was in force at the time of the walkout, and therefore the employees could not have been violating a contract.

Protective Activity

The workers were engaging in "concerted protective activity", he said, "and this is not misconduct in the meaning of the (MESC) act."

The defense was continued by Counselor E. J. Setlock, assistant attorney general, who argued that the record did not anywhere show that the three workers were instrumental in "fomenting . . . the so-called 'wildcat strike.'"

"It is not misconduct where the laborers merely leave their work," he said.

The basic issue in the dispute the parties agreed, was the definition of misconduct.

Charge Rule Violation

In rebuttal, plaintiff's attorneys Harding and James Fitzharris of Escanaba submitted that misconduct can be charged in any action in which the employee does not comply with rules which the employer has set down and has a right to expect compliance to when the worker is engaged. The plant rules were violated by the employees, they said, when they failed to go back to work at the whistle ending the mid-morning recess, by conducting union activities during plant hours and on plant premises, and by leaving the plant during work hours.

They concluded by submitting to the court that the defense argument that no contract was in effect on Sept. 3, the day of the walkout, was contrary to the findings of the referee, in a previous hearing of the case, who recognized as valid the verbal agreement reached by the union and the company in preparation to the drawing of the contract on Oct. 2, 1951.

The plaintiff asked for 30 days in which to file a brief stating his closing arguments. Defense estimated that an answer could be prepared in the 15 days following his receipt of the brief. An additional 10 days was given to the plaintiff to submit a reply.

Judge Jackson will hand down his decision after his reading of the briefs.

Police 'Dissension' Is Report To City Council

Complaints of "dissension", "trouble" and "lack of cooperation" in the Escanaba Police Department were aired at last night's meeting of the City Council by Councilman Jacob Bink and Mayor Robert E. LeMire.

They called for an investigation of the complaints they had received. There was no formal action in the matter but City Manager A. V. Aronson said he would look into the situation.

The manager suggested an investigation by the Councilmen or by citizens they might select, but it was not taken up by the Council.

Slabwood Burns In Fire Here

About $400 worth of cedar slabwood owned by Jerome DeLoria was burned here yesterday when a trash fire spread out of control.

City firemen worked from 2:30 p.m. to 8:25 p.m. with two trucks to extinguish the blaze. A bulldozer was used to separate piles of the slabwood, to prevent spread of the fire, and 2500 gallons of water was pumped through 600 feet of hose, firemen report.

The slabwood was stored on North 23rd street behind the American Fence company plant.

Record Transport Of Ore Reported During November

The Great Lakes ore fleet, augmented by 11 new carriers commissioned since the opening of the 1952 navigation season, last month broke all November records for ore transportation.

Shipments totaled 9,294,947 gross tons, compared to 5,695,281 tons in November, 1951, according to Oliver T. Burnham, Secretary of the Lake Carriers' Association. Best previous November was in 1942, when 7,582,425 tons were moved.

Combined tonnage of ore, coal and grain moved in November amounted to 16,135,585 net tons, also a record. In the same month in 1948, combined shipments added up to 16,069,235 tons.

Unusually fine weather, which resulted in minimum loading and sailing delays, was an important factor in last month's efficient operations.

Coal hauled in November again dipped to 3,472,535 net tons from 4,102,484 tons in November, 1951. Grain shipments fell to 2,252,799 net tons from 2,411,048 tons in the 1951 period.

Most ships of the American lakes fleet are now berthed for the winter, during which they will be put in shape to resume service next season, when they will face the expected task of moving more than 100,000,000 tons of ore—another record-breaking assignment.

Saar Issue Could Upset Unity Plans

THE Saar is a tiny pocket of land along the Rhine River border of France and Germany. For more than three decades it has been shrouded in France-Germany controversy. Both countries covet its riches of coal and steel.

After World War I the Saar was taken from Germany and put under the League of Nations. In 1935, Nazi Germany, exerting heavy pressure, regained the territory in a plebiscite.

After World War II, Saar citizens voted for economic union with France, since Germany was then on its back. Britain and the U. S. accepted the arrangement to win French support for the unification of Western Germany.

Recently Saarlanders voted again, reaffirming their economic ties with France by piling up 68 per cent of the area vote in favor of the present Saar government, a pro-French affair.

Pro-German parties were not represented in the election, so a direct test could not be had. But 24 per cent of the voters turned in spoiled ballots, and German advocates had urged this as deliberate policy. Saar leaders contend at least 10 per cent are normally spoiled. If that is so, then about 14 per cent is the measure of the pro-German vote under marked handicaps.

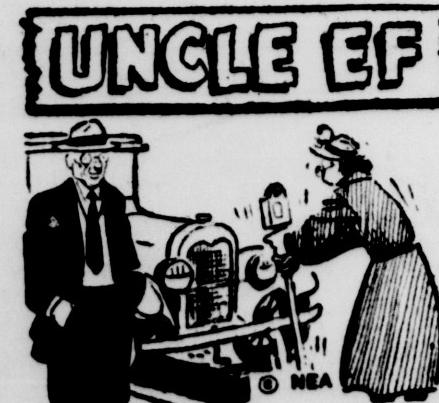

Evidently this result does not really improve the situation. The Germans continue to regard the Saar as theirs, as it is by race, culture and language. The French think they deserve the Saar as compensation for the ruin the Nazis wrought in France.

Moreover, they are mindful that the Saar constitutes 28 per cent of their coal output and 25 per cent of French steel production. With it counted, France can roughly match German coal-steel figures and talk on equal terms in implementing the Schuman European coal-steel agreement. Without the Saar, the French are at a disadvantage.

Some leaders believe the only possible solution is to internationalize the Saar, to make it a separate element in a developing European community. There is considerable evidence that the Saarlanders themselves would prefer this to permanent affiliation with either Germany or France. Many have a kind of split personality, feeling cultural bonds with the Germans but believing their stomachs are fuller under the French.

Chancellor Adenauer of Germany and French Foreign Minister Schuman have been trying to achieve this objective, with no luck. Feeling runs high on both sides and Germany especially gets bolder and bolder as it grows in economic strength and regains political stature. The moment for agreement on the Saar may have gone by.

It is no exaggeration to say, however, that failure to resolve this dilemma could put in jeopardy the whole project for European unity—political, economic and military. Ultimately it may provide a supreme test of European statesmanship.

The Doctor Says... Operation Is Best Treatment For Cataracts of the Eyes

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.—Written for NEA Service

Although cataracts have been discussed in this column on several occasions, this eye condition becomes a matter of extreme importance to many thousands every year. It is almost undoubtedly becoming more and more common.

Mrs. G., for example, says, "I have bilateral cataracts, and am 69 years old; my vision is 20/60, and there seems to be no change that can be made in glasses that will help. Do you think I should be operated on?"

VISION RESTORED

Operation is the best treatment for cataract. When cataract is mature, it can be removed and full vision restored in uncomplicated cases. Surgery of the eye has been so much improved that it is sometimes possible to remove the lens with a cataract in it at early stages of development.

There is no reason to believe that eyestrain leads to the development of cataract, though, of course, eyestrain should be avoided for other reasons. Heredity, and particularly increasing age, seem to have more to do with most cases of cataract than anything else.

How much fuzziness there is depends on the amount of cloudiness in the lens. If only part of the lens is involved, part of what is seen may be clear and part hazy.

If the whole lens is clouded, then all objects will be blurred.

A beginning cataract in which the clouding is slight is called "incipient." When the process of clouding has been completed it is called "ripe," or mature. Unfortunately, medical treatments—that is drugs that have so far been discovered—have not proved of value in dissolving material which clouds the lens, nor can they restore normal vision. Glasses, of course, also cannot remedy the situation.

Now it is not possible to decide without direct examination, and without knowing all the facts, just when a cataract should be operated on, but the subject can be discussed in general terms. First, what is it?

A cataract involves that portion of the eye which serves as a lens. The lens is normally clear but becomes clouded in cataract and this produces a blurring of vision. Perhaps it can be explained best by comparing it with the lens of a camera. If a camera lens is not clean a picture taken with it will be blurred and "fuzzy."

Operation is the best treatment for cataract. When cataract is mature, it can be removed and full vision restored in uncomplicated cases. Surgery of the eye has been so much improved that it is sometimes possible to remove the lens with a cataract in it at early stages of development.

There is no reason to believe that eyestrain leads to the development of cataract, though, of course, eyestrain should be avoided for other reasons. Heredity, and particularly increasing age, seem to have more to do with most cases of cataract than anything else.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Congressional election probes, digging through the files of big contributors, have come across the amazing way in which one Texas oilman tried to influence the election in 20 states out of the 48.

The oilman is H. R. Cullen of Dallas, one of the wealthiest men in the U. S. A., who placed a minimum of $53,000 behind his pet candidates during the recent campaign.

Naturally the candidates he backed if elected will be inclined to favor legislation backed by Cullen, such as tidelands oil and the 27½ per cent oil depletion tax allowance.

Cullen didn't scatter his money. He pinpointed it on certain candidates. Furthermore, he didn't confine it to candidates in or near Texas. He reached out all the way to Connecticut to spend $1,000 to defeat Sen. William Benton, the Democrat who had the courage to oppose Sen. Joseph McCarthy.

Likewise he sent $5,000 up to Wisconsin to help Senator McCarthy in his primary, with $3,500 to help re-elect Sen. William Jenner of Indiana, the man who called Gen. George Marshall a traitor.

CULLEN ROLL-CALL

Here is a detailed account of how the big Texas oilman parlayed his political money all over the United States:

General MacArthur—$5,000 to MacArthur's primary in New Jersey; and $4,000 to his primary in New Hampshire. He lost in both.

Price Daniel, candidate for senator from Texas—$5,000. Daniel has led the fight for tidelands oil. Won.

Senator Cain of Washington—$1,000. Cain, a Republican, lost.

Senator Brewster of Maine—$1,000. Brewster, a Republican, had supported tidelands oil and various measures Cullen advocated. Defeated.

Senator Watkins of Utah—$1,000. Watkins, a Republican, had opposed Cullen on tidelands oil, but was wavering. He had backed the 27½ per cent oil depletion allowance. Won.

Pat Hurley in New Mexico—$1,000. Hurley, a Republican, was former attorney for Sinclair Oil, agreed with Cullen's general ideas. He lost.

Senator Malone of Nevada (R)—$1,000. Lost.

Senator Ecton of Montana (R)—$1,000. Lost.

Senator Kem of Missouri (R)—$1,000. Lost.

Congressman Fred Aandahl of North Dakota—$1,000. This was an attempt to defeat G. O. P. Senator Langer in the North Dakota primary. Langer had voted against tidelands oil and against the 27½ per cent oil depletion allowance. Langer won.

James B. Patterson—$3,000. Candidate for Congress in Texas. Lost.

ONLY TWO DEMOCRATS

Cullen also sent $500 to each of the following Republican congressmen: C. W. Bishop and Charles Vursell of Illinois; Donald Jackson, Ernest Bramblett, Oakley Hunter, John J. Allen Jr., and Joe Holt, all of California; Edmund Rowan of New York; and James Devereux of Maryland. All had backed his philosophy in Congress.

Cullen also sent $500 to California to back Congressman Thomas Werdel of California. Werdel at first opposed Gov. Earl Warren in the California primary, later was defeated by a Democrat, Harlan Hagen. Cullen also tried to defeat two Democratic congressmen—Wayne Hays in Ohio and Sidney Yates of Illinois—by sending $500 each to their G. O. P. opponents. The two Democrats had voted against him on tidelands oil. They won.

The Texan also peeled $1,500 off his bankroll to boost G. O. P. Congressman John Wood of Idaho who had supported many of his policies. Five hundred dollars went direct to Wood and $1,000 to the Republican finance committee of Idaho. However, Wood was defeated by a lady Democrat, Mrs. Grace Prost.

Cullen has been a registered Democrat most of his life. But, outside his own state, most of his money was put up to elect Republicans. The only exceptions were $500 to re-elect Democratic Congressmen Burr Harrison of Virginia and another $500 to M. M. Long, who lost to Republican William Wampler also in Virginia.

Once in a while some out of the way public gathering place is decorated with something flimsy or bedecked with candles which could make it a roaring inferno in moments. True the firemen make inspections of public buildings, but they cannot possibly check every place, and some areas do not have a fire fighting force.

Don't let death take your holiday!

Ike Chooses Adams As His Aide And Benson For His New Cabinet

CONCORD, N. H.—(NEA)—date's consent was not required for filing in New Hampshire, and Adams acted on his own convictions.

But Eisenhower soon said he to his quick mind, his facility for getting people to work together, his knack of sizing up public opinion.

Adams' talents in those directions have long been recognized by the New Hampshire electorate. His first public office, in fact, was won in the nominally Democratic city of Lincoln, where he was elected to the State Legislature in 1940.

He had the nomination of both parties two years later, then reverted to being just a Republican. Yet his tact and fair-mindedness was still recognized by both parties, and, in 1943, he was named Speaker of the House in New Hampshire.

He lost the Republican primary race for governor by a mere 157 votes in 1946, but two years later won the primary and the election. He was re-elected in 1950, and it was from this post that he took an unsalaried, three-month leave to serve as Eisenhower's campaign chief of staff.

Adams' background is that of a successful businessman. He is a Vermonter by birth, but moved across to New Hampshire after his education in that state's Dartmouth College. He settled in Lincoln, entered the lumber business, and became manager of a big lumber and pulp concern.

It was largely his workers who voted him into his first office, and that fact — his feelings for the working man — has made him successful in labor dealings on his public career.

Adams, now 53, is a good-looking man with a passion for bow-ties and a love of singing. During his one term in Congress—from 1945 to 1947—his excellent voice was heard in a Washington church choir. His voice makes him also a polished orator.

He is a Marine veteran of World War I. Adams and his wife have four children, three daughters and a son.

Benson: Quiet Voice, Firm Demands

SALT LAKE CITY—(NEA)—Beneath his bland manner and soft voice, Ezra Taft Benson is a hardened veteran of the lobbying world of Washington, D. C.

The broad-shouldered, spectacled new Secretary of Agriculture has for years been on the executive board of the powerful National Council of Farmer Cooperatives. And his quiet voice has been heard firmly demanding that farmers be treated like manufacturers—with a minimum of help from the government.

One important agriculture expert says that Benson is highly acceptable to both right-and-left-wing farming groups, who differ on such matters as the Brannan Plan, parity prices, crop controls and tariffs.

Benson's call for free enterprise in farming has been tempered by his knowledge of economics. In the present scheme of American economy, one of Benson's associates said, some support for farmers is necessary and he knows it.

Although Benson has spent most of his 53 years on farms and among farmers, he has served two other causes — his church and American youth.

The great-grandson of Mormon leaders, Benson himself is one of the Twelve Apostles of the Mormon Church. Like many to continue his work for youth.

With the exception of his role in the farm cooperative movement, Benson had never participated in partisan politics until this year. His active support of Sen. Robert A. Taft—a distant relative—as Republican presidential nominee went hand-in-glove with his deep feelings about governmental over-assistance to farmers.

In 1926, he married Flora Smith Amusen of Salt Lake City. His family of two sons and four daughters has followed him as he commuted between Washington and his home.

He did not, he said, seek any post in President-elect Eisenhower's Cabinet, but he was "deeply honored" at the appointment. It has been 25 years since he first worked as an agricultural official, when he was a county farm agent.

And it had been even longer since he plowed his first field.

Good Evening...

By CLINT DUNATHAN

BIG BUSINESS—The Christmas tree retail business alone in the United States runs into a total of approximately $50,000,000.

Add to this the incidentals—such as trimmings, lights, novelties—and the total bill for a bright Christmas in the American home represents a multi-million dollar industry.

Perhaps Christmas should not be thought of in this way, yet for the sake of the practical (and the need for a column) this aspect of the holiday season is noteworthy. For the Christmas tree, symbolic of the Christian belief that it is better to give than to receive, is now found in eight of every ten homes in this country, reports the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Most of the trees come from the forests and some from tree plantations.

FILLING THE NEED—No Christmas would be really complete without a Christmas tree—although in the cities some people must be satisfied with the artificial tree that bears some resemblance to the real thing.

Long centuries ago the evergreen came into use at Christmastime, not only because of its beautiful appearance but also because of its pleasant aroma.

The balsam tree is most sought after at Christmastime, perhaps because its twigs resemble crosses. Extracts from the Balsam tree were once widely used for medicinal purposes. Certainly the perfume of the balsam is one of its outstanding features.

Battle Predicted Over Truman's Health Insurance

years for a compulsory health insurance plan financed by payroll taxes on employers and employees, found the new proposal satisfactory. He said he hoped it would be carried out.

Whether his endorsement will have weight with the incoming Republican Congress is, of course, questionable. Truman couldn't get compulsory health insurance approved even when the Democrats ran Congress.

What the health commission proposes is a broad new system, backed by 1½ billion dollars of federal and state funds every year, to help bring medical care within the reach of everyone who wants it on a prepayment basis.

States and individuals could come in or stay out. If they came in, it would be under standards set by the federal government. But the insurance plan would be run largely by local and state boards.

Dental Care Included

Anyone able to pay health insurance premiums—just how much they would be hasn't been worked out—would finance his own health program. Federal and state funds would pay all or part of the costs for those unable to bear their full share.

As the commission sees it, a plan should provide not only for hospital and surgical care, as most present voluntary insurance systems do, but also for services of a family physician. It says the plan should offer dental care to children at first, and eventually to everybody, along with expensive drugs, appliances and X-ray service.

The commission recommended that some three million people now drawing monthly Old Age and Survivors Insurance checks from the social security program, and millions more who will start receiving benefits at 65, be brought into the health insurance plan. It suggested that the cost be paid out of social security funds, which are collected from taxes on employers and employees, regardless of whether the beneficiaries are able to meet it themselves.

This was the phase that drew quick fire from Dr. Bauer.

"Under this plan," he said, "the federal government, through payroll deductions, would pay directly for the medical care of an ever-increasing segment of our population and our health services would inevitably be controlled by big government."

Mrs. James Anderson Is Elected Head Of Wells Guild

WELLS—St. Anthony Guild of Wells elected Mrs. James Anderson president for the coming year Wednesday evening. Mrs. William Casey was elected vice president, Mrs. Alfred Anderson, secretary and Mrs. Byron Ford, treasurer.

The Guild and its marathon players held a pot luck supper that evening in Wells Township hall. Group singing was enjoyed with Mrs. Walter Kulick accompanying. Father Ralph Sterbentz sang a solo and gifts were distributed by a Santa Claus. A Christmas tree and miniature silver trees and red candles on each side formed the main decorations.

Mrs. William Goodreau scored high in 500, and Mrs. Louis Dufour low. In canasta honors went to Mrs. Wilfred Casey, high, and Mrs. Jack Carlson, low.

Briefs

Mrs. Gaylord Blake of Wells submitted to surgery at Augustana Hospital in Chicago Wednesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. William Rusha have left for Adrian where they will spend the holidays with their children, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Derby and Mrs. Emma Jarrett. They also will visit in Chicago with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sanders. They plan to be gone a month.

Ford River Lions Plan Yule Party

The Ford River Lions will hold a Christmas party Monday, Dec. 22 at the Ford River community Christmas tree.

There will be a program of carols. Santa Claus will be present and will distribute gifts to the youngsters.

Wall Street

By RADER WINGET
NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market faltered today after a good start.

Price changes as a general rule were confined to fractions. The exceptions on the upside were a few issues with gains of between 2 and 3 points at times.

Trading expanded while prices were rising and maintained a pace a little better than yesterday's 1,860,000 shares.

American Telephone, which lost a full point yesterday, was down at the start today but recovered and posted a small gain.

Baltimore & Ohio, yesterday's most active issue, and Graham-Paige, second most active, started out today on large blocks at higher prices.

Aluminum Co. of America gained between .2 and .3 points on a few sales. Directors after the market closed yesterday voted to split the stock two for one.

Retiring are Dr. Ernest L. Anthony, dean of the school of Agriculture; Dr. Lorin G. Miller, dean of the School of Engineering, and Dr. Harrison R. Hunt, head of the department of zoology.

Kresge Distributes Cash To Employees

The S. S. Kresge Co., from its main office in Detroit, announces that cash Christmas remembrances will be distributed to approximately 45,000 employees throughout the country, says P. A. Kennedy, manager of the Kresge store here on 1104 Ludington St.

Approximately 36 Kresge men and women in Escanaba will participate in the plan.

This is the thirty-second year that the Kresge Co. has paid cash remembrances to its employees at Christmas time. This year, 626 stores, as well as the company's offices and warehouse, will participate in the plan.

The schedule covers full or part-time employees working on December 24 who were hired before December 1, and is arranged on the basis of length of service with the Kresge Co.

City Water Plant Contract Extended

At the request of Pearson Construction Company, city water plant contractors, the Escanaba City Council last night extended the completion date to Jan. 15. The extension was asked so that plant tests could be made uninterrupted by the Christmas holidays for employees.

Council also set the date of its meeting for Jan. 6, because the scheduled Council meeting date falls on Jan. 1.

Norman Dahlke, Norm's Super Market, 1130 Stephenson Ave., was named a collector of utility bills for the city in North Escanaba, following approval of an agreement submitted by the city attorney.

Sitting in with Eisenhower and Martin were Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, in line to be majority floor leader, and Rep. Leslie C. Arends of Illinois, who probably will be assistant leader.

Sen. Arthur T. Taft of Ohio and other Senate GOP leaders will get together with Eisenhower soon for a similar conference on the legislative program after he takes office Jan. 20.

Republican senators Andrews of Hillman, Cloon of Wakefield, Flynn of Cadillac, Greene of Grand Rapids, Nichols of Jackson, Reid of Detroit and Roy of Hancock voted to confirm Kozaren. Senator Creighton R. Coleman (R-Battle Creek), the senate GOP majority leader, did not vote.

Republicans joined Democrats to defeat Hutchinson's plea that the House group's meeting with the general, Halleck told a news conference the Truman administration "has just about destroyed the whole program of stabilization."

Agreeing, Martin said the outgoing Democratic regime has the program "on the ground gasping for breath."

The situation was underscored, Halleck said, by Truman's approval of the $1.90 wage increase for coal miners. That action brought on the protest resignation of industry members of the Wage Stabilization Board.

Martin said he and his House colleagues discussed in a general way with Eisenhower what to do about wage-price controls, but reached no decision.

Eisenhower aides said the matter is being given much study because of the economic consequences in the picture.

Eisenhower Faces Tough Decision On Controls Problem

Hobby, Houston, Tex., editor and publisher, who will be Federal Security Administrator, and Martin P. Durkin, of Chicago and Washington, AFL Plumbing Union president, who was chosen as Secretary of Labor.

Like Anderson, Mrs. Hobby supported Eisenhower in the campaign. Durkin supported Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois, the Democratic candidate.

James C. Hagerty, Eisenhower's press secretary, announced the appointment.

He said they were decided upon after a series of conferences between Eisenhower and Wilson aboard the Cruiser Helena while they were returning from Korea.

The new appointments were announced as Eisenhower faced a politically explosive decision in coping with inflation.

The decision confronting him is whether to ask the new Republican-controlled Congress to extend controls authority, scheduled to expire April 30, or let the program die and try to restrain inflation by other methods.

May Address Congress

Eisenhower may outline to Congress personally the course he decides upon.

Rep. Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts, the prospective speaker of the House, said after a conference with Eisenhower yesterday that the President-elect is considering whether to go before Congress and set forth his legislative program after he takes office Jan. 20.

Sitting in with Eisenhower and Martin were Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, in line to be majority floor leader, and Rep. Leslie C. Arends of Illinois, who probably will be assistant leader.

Sen. Arthur T. Taft of Ohio and other Senate GOP leaders will get together with Eisenhower soon for a similar conference on the legislative program being drafted by the new administration.

Stabilization Wrecked

After the House group's meeting with the general, Halleck told a news conference the Truman administration "has just about destroyed the whole program of stabilization."

Agreeing, Martin said the outgoing Democratic regime has the program "on the ground gasping for breath."

The situation was underscored, Halleck said, by Truman's approval of the $1.90 wage increase for coal miners. That action brought on the protest resignation of industry members of the Wage Stabilization Board.

Martin said he and his House colleagues discussed in a general way with Eisenhower what to do about wage-price controls, but reached no decision.

Eisenhower aides said the matter is being given much study because of the economic consequences in the picture.

Pledged To Cut Spending

With defense spending certain to remain high, the new administration is taking a cautious approach to the idea of letting wage-price control authority expire.

Spiraling prices and uncontrolled wages could put the Republicans on a political spot they want to avoid. And the Democrats under Truman appear determined to keep the controls program in operation until Jan. 20, when the opposition party will inherit the responsibility for a decision on what to do next.

Martin stressed that regardless of whether controls are kept, the Republicans are going to wage a big drive to cut federal spending. That was one of the steps Eisenhower said during the campaign would help curb inflation.

A GOP aim, said Martin, is to "cut some of the extravagance and reckless spending" of which he accused the Truman administration.

He said he wasn't precluding the possibility of a tax reduction, too, but he added that the first business at hand was to reduce spending.

Heavy Telephone Demand Expected During Christmas

If you want to make sure that you talk to Aunt Nell back in the old home town this Christmas, take it from the Michigan Bell Telephone Company that you might do well to follow two suggestions:

1. It will help a lot if you call by number.

2. It will help more if you call a day or so before Christmas Eve.

proved greatly if shoppers would not try to transport such items as Christmas trees and sleds on crowded buses and streetcars, if riders would have their fares ready, and if the lady of the house would let her husband get off to work before setting out on her shopping rounds."

Mrs. Karen R. Gillespie, associate professor at New York University's School of Retailing, has some more do's and don'ts for shoppers, as follows:

1. Don't get annoyed over delays; these are bound to occur in the rush of a busy season.

2. Don't insist on special store services and attentions at this time of year.

3. If you really feel you can't face the crowds in the shops this last week before Christmas, give everybody gift certificates.

Take It Easy

A group of assorted experts have come up with a list of suggestions which agree on at least one point—take it easy.

Mrs. Marjorie B. May, director of home safety for the Greater New York Safety Council, advises women, "Don't get so tired you're groggy." She has a number of pointers on toy buying, such as:

(A) be sure toys are non-flammable, and that those for toddlers are too big to swallow, have no sharp edges or button eyes or noses on long, murderous pins;

(B) don't overestimate a child's ability, by buying him a bike, for instance, too big for him to ride safely;

(C) don't turn small children loose with chemistry sets.

She warns against the fire hazards of Christmas trees, urging that you buy the tree at the last moment, put it in a firm stand with a water container, use only lights that have been approved by the underwriters and don't set it up in front of a fireplace or radiator.

Avoid Frayed Nerves

Harry W. Arnold of Columbus, O., president of the American Transit Association, says women could avoid much of the fatigue, frayed nerves and frazzled tempers attendant with the holiday season if they would not try to drive their cars in downtown traffic and if they would use public transportation, making their shopping trips at nonpeak hours between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. He adds:

Christmas Trees At Hospital To Be Erected Today

Christmas trees were to be erected at the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital today, a large tree inside donated by Sidney Bouwer and two smaller outside trees donated by Clifford Christensen.

Permanent bases for the outside trees were made by Manistique National Guards.

The trees are to be decorated by members of the hospital auxiliary assisted by senior Girl Scouts. Miss Pansy Christensen is chairman of the Christmas tree committee for the auxiliary.

Boy, 17, Signs Up With Marines Three Times

READING, Pa. (AP) — The in-and-out-again boy of the Marine Corps, 17-year-old William H. Houston, is in again today.

Houston, whose father, Marine Maj. John Lester Houston, was killed at Iwo Jima in 1943, enlisted in Jacksonville, Fla., when he was 15.

He had almost completed boot training at Parris Island, S. C., when his age was discovered and he was discharged. Not to be discouraged, Houston enlisted again at Reading when he was 16.

"You here again?" they asked at Parris Island as they gave him his second honorable discharge.

During his present enlistment Houston told Sgt. Norman Persing he was 17, the sergeant asked "You're not kidding now?" Houston assured him he was serious. He heads for Parris Island again in a few days.

Polite Wife

MONTREAL (AP) — Mrs. Larry Wilson won the title "Perfect Wife" in a contest sponsored by the Notre Dame de Grace business men's association. Among assets listed by her husband was the fact she is polite—even to her husband.

Heinz Funeral Held Yesterday

Funeral services for Michael Heinz, a former well known resident of Manistique, were held at 10 a. m. yesterday from St. Gregory's Catholic Church in Newberry. Burial was made in the Newberry cemetery.

Michael Heinz died suddenly Monday morning.

He was born in Germany Sept. 23, 1894, and came to Huntspur with his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Heinz, in 1895.

He was a resident of the Manistique area until 1939 when he was employed by the Michigan Unemployment Compensation Commission. During his services with the commission he lived successively in Sault Ste. Marie, Iron Mountain, Escanaba, Manistique and Newberry.

He was manager of the Hewett Grocery Company in Manistique for many years, and also held memberships in the Knights of Columbus, Elks and Rotary Club while here. He was married to the former Gladys Goetz, of Detour.

At the time of his death he was a member of St. Gregory's Church in Newberry.

He is survived by his widow; two daughters, Mrs. Gilbert Nixon, of Georgia, and Mary, of Newberry; two sons, John and William, both students at Michigan College of Mining and Technology, Houghton; two sisters, Mrs. Adam Bauers, of Manistique, and Helen Heinze, of Traverse City; and three brothers, Adam, Leon and William, of Manistique.

Another brother, Frank, was killed in an automobile accident a year ago.

The Handy Hands extension club met at the home of Mrs. Hazel Whitman, 800 Range St., Tuesday evening. Mrs. Mildred Lowery was the assisting hostess.

A social evening was enjoyed with prizes in games going to Mrs. Charles Nelson, Mrs. Mildred Lowery, Mrs. Bert Riley and Mrs. Melita Patz. Mrs. Charles Nelson was given the special award.

Lunch was served later beside a frosty white and blue lighted Christmas tree. The centerpiece, also in frosty white, was made and presented as a gift to the hostess by Mrs. Nelson.

Santa Claus arrived and distributed gifts to everyone as guests were enjoying refreshments.

Guests of the club were Mrs. Charles Nelson and Mrs. Bert Riley.

In addition, Junior Red Cross gift boxes were filed by several townships. Gift boxes also were filled in the office of the chairman for which funds from the drive were used.

Scots Raise Reindeer For Milk And Meat

NEW YORK (AP) — Scotland is raising its own reindeer in the hope of supplementing its food supply, reports the British Information Service here. The experiment was started this year with eight reindeer living off the sparsely vegetated moors of Northern Scotland, where other cattle would perish.

The herd, three of whom have died, is expected to increase the milk and meat supply. Ten more Norwegian reindeer are to be imported, the report said.

Braves Trim Munising 48-37 In GL Contest

MUNISING—Lanky Jerry Norick went on a 13-point second quarter scoring rampage here last night to lead the Gladstone Braves to a 48-37 victory over Coach Stan Whitman's Mustangs.

Munising took an early lead and had a 11-11 margin at the end of the first period. But Norick's dead-eye shooting in the second period, with Tom Moreau in a supporting role as feeder, broke Munising's defenses. Gladstone was never behind after that.

It was the first victory for Gladstone in Great Lakes Conference play. Coach Cappy Keil's Braves now have a 1-1 conference record. The loss was suffered at the hands of Manistique Emeralds.

With Martin Becker and Duane Peterson outstanding under the boards, Gladstone controlled rebounds on both courts. Becker fouled out of action in the final second of play.

Norick snared high point honors with 21 on the scoreboard while Norman Butler contributed 12 and Moreau 10 to the Gladstone attack. D. J. Lincoln was high for Munising with 10.

After taking a 27-20 lead at halftime, the Braves exchanged buckets with the Mustangs in the third period in which each team scored eight points. Gladstone staged a brief scoring spurt in the final period to stretch the margin as the game ended.

Coach Don Pfotenhauer's Gladstone junior varsity team remained undefeated by tripping the Munising Bees 49-43 in the preliminary game.

The game wound up pre-Christmas activity for both quints.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

SAN FRANCISCO—Carl "Bobo" Olson, 162, San Francisco outpointer Norman Hayes, 162, Boston, 16, Louisville, Ky.—Chico Vejar, 146½, Stamford, Conn., knocked out Art Davis, 147, Miami, Fla., 2, Fall River, Mass.—Steve Marcello, 14½, Providence, R. I., knocked out Eddie Moriz, 148, Fall River, 4. New York—Irvin Steen, 146½, San Diego, Calif., outpointed Phil Burton, 14, Louisville, 8. Ottawa, Ont.—Armand Savoie, 142, Montreal, outpointed Shamus McCray, 142, Cleveland, 10.

Officials for the sixth annual Upper Peninsula Parochial school basketball tournament, to be staged at the St. Joe gym Dec. 28-29-30, will be Ed Gauthier, Bob Dufour and Dick Schram of Escanaba, Ray Ranguelette of Manistique, Norman Slough of Rapid River and Harold "Babe" Anderson of Nahma. Tourney pairings will be made next week by Msgr. David Spelgatti at Marquette. Competing will be St. Joe, St. Ambrose of Ironwood, St. Paul of Negaunee, Baraga of Marquette and Sacred Heart of Laurium.

Still No Ice, Hawks Postpone Second Game

Because of unusually mild weather to date, it has been impossible to flood the new indoor rink surface at the fairgrounds exhibition building and the scheduled game here Sunday with Calumet has been postponed to Sunday, Feb. 8.

This announcement was made this morning by the Escanaba Hockey Association. Previously, the Dec. 17 game with Marquette was postponed because of lack of ice. In all probability, the first home game will be against Portage Lake New Year's Day.

"We regret very much the necessity of postponing the first two Escanaba home games, but because of mile weather thus far we have no choice," Escanaba Hockey Association officials said today.

New Year's Day?

Escanaba is scheduled to be host to Portage Lake New Year's Eve but arrangements are being made with the Portage Lake club to play this game in Escanaba on the afternoon of New Year's Day, Thursday, January 1. Fans in this area are urged to watch for announcements in the newspaper.

Marquette is the only club in the Northern Michigan Hockey League with artificial ice. Therefore, the rest of us—Escanaba, Calumet and Houghton—are at the mercy of the weatherman. We will hold to the remainder of the schedule as closely as weather conditions permit."

EHA officers pointed out that the delay is working in Escanaba's favor to this extent: It is enabling community volunteers, including the National Guard, Harnischfeger crews and several individuals, to complete the improvements at the indoor rink.

Much Work Completed

To date, Jeni and Stan Jensen and Leslie Rose have completed erection of new sideboards for the rink, which now measures 150 by 80 feet; Wayne Haddock and his crew have supported the south balcony and started installation of new seating facilities and the National Guard commanded by Capt. Roy Johnson has completed clearing and laying the new concrete floor.

Businessmen comprising Escanaba Enterprises, Inc., met in the Sherman hotel yesterday to study progress to date at the exhibition building.

Arrangements were made to procure lumber to complete seating on the entire east side of the rink, install metal showed cabinets for visiting and home team dressing rooms, construct two new ticket booths and complete other improvement work now underway.

It is expected that lumber will be available by today or tomorrow to enable Mel Bertrand and his volunteer carpenter crew to install the new seats. Bertrand said carpenters will work this weekend if lumber is available.

Persons who have seen work done to date at the indoor rink describe it as a "tremendous improvement." The larger rink and more comfortable seating which also provides a much better view of the playing surface from all angles will give Escanaba one of the finest rink stadiums in the U. P. The 80-foot extension will put the building on a par with any in the peninsula.

Score by quarters:

CYO 30 26 27 26—109

National Guard 13 13 8 23—54

Official: Pete Berger.

Ishpeming Seeks Fifth Cage Win Here Tonight

Ishpeming, defending Upper Peninsula Class B basketball champions, will be shooting for their fifth straight win of the season when they engage the Escanaba Eskymos at 8:30 tonight in the Junior High gymnasium.

Coach C. C. Watson's Hematites have posted successive wins over Stambaugh, Iron Mountain, Munising and Calumet to date. The Hematites lost only two games last year, falling to Negaunee in regular season play and dropping a decision in the state semi-finals in Lower Michigan.

Hematite Starters

Likely starters for Ishpeming tonight are Don Kangas and Dave Garceau at forwards, Bob Sharland at center, Tom Thornton and John Philippi at guards.

Ishpeming's scoring strength lies largely in Sharland's capable hands. The big center, who replaced all-state Terry Thompson in the lineup this year, is a four-year veteran with the Hematites.

A preliminary between the Bee team of the two schools will open hostilities at 7.

Game officials are Evan Kelly and C. J. St. German of Marquette.

Carl Olson Decisions Hayes In Ten Rounds

SAN FRANCISCO—Carl "Bobo" Olson Thursday night smashed his way closer to the middleweight boxing title vacated by Sugar Ray Robinson. He won a convincing 10 round decision over formidable Norman Hayes of Boston in a slugfest battle. There were no knockdowns.

The Honolulu-born Olson, this country's No. 1 contender for the crown, received the unanimous decision of two judges and the referee.

Olson led from the start, raking Hayes with left hooks to the body and rights and lefts to the jaw.

Hayes, a game 21-year-old Negro, stood up under a barrage of punches and they fought toe-to-toe at times.

Rice made it three in a row by defeating Tulane, 62-54.

thall. The entire Irish starting line-up is over the six foot mark.

Cloud-busters

UCLA center Mike Hibler (6-7), his replacement John Moore (6-5) and forward Dick Ridgway and guard John Moore (6-4) each are the west coast cloud-busters.

Sophomore Center Jack Armstrong (6-8) is the one real tall man on the Michigan State squad. MSC then tapers off to forward Eric Furst (6-3) and takes a deep drop down to guard Rickey Ayala, (5-5) believed to be one of the smallest starters in college basketball.

NYU Is Upset

Many major teams saw action last night. Seton Hall whipped Kentucky, 77-74, and Temple upset NYU, 77-68, in a New York doubleheader. Holy Cross trimmed Colby, 66-58, and Yale sunk Hofstra, 79-59.

In the south Tennessee humbled Texas, 66-59. N. C. State took George Washington, 75-68, and Maryland downed Washington and Lee, 58-40.

Missouri dunked Texas Christian, 55-45; Wichita took San Francisco, 64-59 and Lawrence Tech whipped Bowling Green, 73-62, in midwest struggles.

Notre Dame has two men at six feet five inches in center Norb Lewinski and forward Rosen

Sentinels Beat Calumet 9-4 In Hockey Opener

MARQUETTE—(Special) — A crowd of 1,061 fans saw the Marquette Sentinels inaugurate the 1952-53 Northern Michigan Hockey League season with a convincing 9-4 victory over Calumet at the Palestra rink here last night.

Marquette's fast-skating Gail Lawrence applied the clincher with three goals in the third period. In addition to his hat-trick, Lawrence was credited with two assists to lead the scorers of both teams.

The Sentinels, made up of veteran hockey names and a sprinkling of newcomers this season, showed signs of being a NM powerhouse.

The opening night crowd was nearly double that of last season's first game at Palestra.

The game wound up pre-Christmas activity for both quints.

Briggs Stadium Turf Likely To Be Frozen

By HARRY STAPLER

Detroit (P)—The Los Angeles Rams drilled today on the frozen turf of Briggs Stadium for the first time. And the feeling grew that all players may have to wear rubber-soled basketball shoes in order to maneuver in Sunday's big pro football game.

Coch Buddy Parker said his Detroit Lions would shun regular cleated football shoes and use the sneakers if the ground stayed hard in this sub-freezing weather.

Coch Hampton Pool shook the shivers out of his bones today and put his warm-weather Rams through a drill—maybe their only one before the game. If the Lions wear basketball shoes the Rams will, too.

Even Choice

The Rams, an even choice or at the most a one-point underdog in the tie-breaking National Conference playoff, hadn't had it so cold since Nov. 16.

"We're not concerned about the weather. Whatever it is Sunday is good enough for us," said Pool, who flew in here last night after his Rams had spent four straight weeks in milder California.

It was 101 when the Rams won last Sunday at Los Angeles to gain a season-ending first place tie with Detroit. The winner plays at Cleveland Dec. 28 against the American Conference champion Browns, with the National Football League title hinging on the outcome.

Parker's talk of using sneakers recalls one of the most dramatic of all NFL title games.

Giants Used Sneakers

It was 1934, the Polo Grounds at New York had similarly frozen turf and the New York Giants trailed the Chicago Bears 13-3 at halftime.

The Bears had won 34 straight and were highly favored.

During haltime intermission Giant Coach Steve Owen sent messengers to nearby Manhattan College to get basketball shoes.

The sure-footed Giants had an

Wolverines Try Again Against Hoosier Quint

ANN ARBOR (P)—Michigan opens the Big Ten basketball season for its third league opponent Saturday in a clash with potent Indiana at Bloomington, Ind. And the Wolverines are hoping the event will be less disastrous than the previous two.

Michigan gave Iowa its opening conference victory, 85-77 last Saturday. Monday night, the Wolverines ushered the powerful defending champions from Illinois into easy time in the second half and won 30-13, although the Bears tried to counteract the strategy by stepping on Giant toes.

Both the Rams and Lions are handicapped by two injuries.

The Rams don't expect Dick (Night Train) Lane, holder of the league pass interception record, to play. Another defensive ace, Herb Rich, may recover from a smashed toe by Sunday.

Thus weakened, Pool was going ahead with plans to use Elroy Hirsch, star offensive end, at a defensive halfback spot to help stop Lion end Cloys Box, who has caught nine touchdown passes in the last three games and 15 this season.

Girard Out

The Lions will be without half-back Jug Girard, their No. 1 replacement at both sides. Girard said yesterday he wouldn't be ready to play Dec. 28 in event the Lions win and go to Cleveland.

This is ironical. It's his sixth year as a pro (his first with the Lions) and he's never been this close to a title game before. It was his stellar work during the nine-game absence of Doak Walker that helped the Lions to tie for the lead.

Defensive end Sherwin Gande is out because of a bone chip.

Coach Parker said a report that another defensive end, Jim Doran, might not play was premature. He said Doran had a slightly sore back but was in good playing condition.

Quarterback Bobby Layne, although still not able to cut hard on his injured leg, will start for the Lions.

Approximately 5,000 of the 53,000 seats remained unsold this morning. On Sunday morning 3,000 or more standing room tickets will go on sale, in case all the seats are sold.

The game will be nationally televised. In Michigan and Toledo, O., it was scheduled to be blacked out. In case of a sellout, the blackout will likely be lifted.

SYNOPSIS: The pirates, stuck in gooey rubber, watch Jonathan duel Captain Longhair. Just as the pirate seems to have won, a gust of wind blows his hair in his eyes. Jonathan cuts off his bangs and long hair then leaps on his back and forces him to surrender. The now bald captain sits down and cries. Santa gives him a job in Santa Land and the pirates swear to follow the Prince. But, alas, thinks Jonathan, it's three days to Christmas and the treasure is at the bottom of the sea!

CHAPTER XV
HOMeward Bound

Captain Longhair's nearly bald head glistened in the sun. He watched Prince Jonathan staring sadly over the sea.

"I should think you would be happy," said Longhair. "You have defeated the fiercest pirate on the seven seas."

"It does me no good," said the Prince. "I needed your treasure to save my kingdom."

"Well, take the treasure!" exclaimed Longhair. "You have won it. Besides, I have no use for treasure now that I have a steady job in Santa Land."

"You forgot," groaned the Prince. "The treasure is at the bottom of the sea!"

"Only for the moment," laughed Longhair. "In six hours it will be high and dry on land."

"But—how?"

"There is a strange tide on this island," said Longhair. "It rises 40 feet. When the tide goes in six hours your treasure will be sitting there on the sand."

The Prince's heart leaped with joy. Could such a thing be true? He ran to Santa with the news. Santa said six hours was a short time to wait and they would see what happened.

Tweedleknives said while they waited they better make some rubber balls — this time some properly done balls for Christmas stockings.

They moved the ship further from shore so that the low tide would not leave them as well as the treasure sitting on the sand. Then everyone — pirates and brownies alike — set to work making rubber balls.

As the hours passed the tide went out. Sure enough, in six hours the water that had covered the treasure had been swept to sea and there was the chest of gold and jewels gleaming on the sand.

They loaded the treasure on the pirates' ship and sped towards Santa Land. But when they arrived it was the day before Christmas even and the Prince said, "My father will lose his kingdom on Christmas day. How shall I ever get there in time?"

Santa said, "You will need a good wind blowing all the way. You must go to the West Wind and ask him to help you."

"Wherever would I find the West Wind?" asked the Prince.

"He spends the winter sleeping in a hot house over yonder hill. If he refuses to help tell him I will fill his house with snow and ice and he won't be able to sleep again all winter long."

The Prince hastened to a red brick house beyond the hill. He found the West Wind, all shapeless and hollow, sitting snug before a fire.

The Prince told him how he needed his help but the West Wind said he never worked in December. Then the Prince told him that Santa would freeze his home if he did not help.

He blew a mighty wind. And the wind filled the sails and sent the ship across the waves.

The West Wind muttered and groaned and coughed and said he'd never, never be able to stand the cold if he went out. But the Prince said he would fix things if only he would try.

So finally the West Wind agreed. He hobbled down to the ship. The Prince thanked Santa and his workers for all their help and said goodbye to Captain Longhair.

Then the pirates (who were now sailors in Prince Jonathan's navy) took their stations on the ship and set out to sea.

The West Wind perched on the rail in the stern and the Prince put hot water bottles at his feet and wrapped him in seventeen quits and gave him hot soup to drink.

Finally the West Wind growled that he guessed he wasn't going to freeze to death after all. He cleared his throat and gave a few hearty huffs and puffs. Then he filled his great, shapeless, hollow self with air and began to blow.

He blew a mighty wind. And the wind filled the sails and sent the ship skimming across the waves straight towards the troubled Kingdom of Fairvania.

Schools Close Until Jan. 5

Public and parochial schools in Escanaba and rural schools in Delta County today closed for the annual Christmas vacation.

Classes will be resumed both in the city and in rural districts January 5, even though schools are financially in difficult straits because of the state treasury deficit. School administrators in Delta County estimate they will be able to operate schools about month after Christmas without borrowing. If the state legislature, which begins its special session Wednesday, grants authority for schools to borrow on forthcoming aid payments, classes will be continued beyond January as scheduled.

The schools which did not receive advances on state aid and which will not receive full state aid payments in January, have been letting bills ride. In Escanaba financial relief has been obtained by borrowing from the Catherine Bonifas fund.

Some revenue will become available to schools after the holidays through local property taxes, which become due next month.

Cloverland Commercial College here, which has about 90 students, also dismissed classes today. The college students will resume classes Monday, Jan. 5.

20 Pilgrims Die

SINGAPORE (AP)—Twenty Malays of the 2,000-odd pilgrims from Malaya died on the return voyage from Mecca aboard the pilgrimage ship Tyndareus.

Seventeen of them were buried at sea between Jeddah, port of Mecca, and Penang, Malaya. One body was taken ashore at Penang and the remaining two at Singapore.

The American Association for the Advancement of Science named them to receive the annual AAA-George Westinghouse Science Awards. The prizes will be presented in St. Louis Dec. 29.

Blakeslee won in the field of newspaper science writing with a series of four articles which reported on promising and vital research at the Jackson Memorial Laboratory at Bar Harbor, Me.

Hunt won his prize for an Esquire magazine article describing experiments conducted by Dr. Howard S. Liddell, Cornell University psychobiologist, and designed to trace causes of nervous breakdowns and other neurotic conditions.
